
Climber 020 visits Mass. for group climb

In April '06 I visited New Jersey and met up with Climber 020, Electrojake, JerseyEd and a few others for a climb at Marquand Park in Princeton. Last weekend Climber 020 returned the favor and visited the blackfly infested state of Massachusetts for a New England area arborists rec climb.

The climb was held in a big old white oak a mile up a closed road in central Mass. Some very interesting modes of transportation to bring gear in to the site.

Thank you to both of you for taking the time to post the photo albums of the climb. Looks like the weather was very nice too!
