
World Mass Meditation and Tree Climbing for Earth Healing

Posted by kinooni - 07/16/2007 01:23pm

I would like to invite everyone to join me in a treeclimb on this magical hour. (July 17th 11:11 GMT) If you have concern about the health of our planet and want to help heal it, please read the following. (at the very least, it is a good reason to climb a tree and think about all the life that our planet brings to us)

<http://firethegrid.org/>

our time is running out,
phil

=====

Posted by moss - 07/16/2007 10:33pm

Unfortunately I will not be getting up that early EST to get into a tree on the 17th. I like the idea of focusing attention on the problems stated. I'm not so in favor of depending on a miracle as much as I hope that humans can make the effort to solve the problems they've created. I guess that would be a kind of miracle.

Thanks for bringing it to to our attention.
-moss

=====